—Continued Defense Build-Up Planned— Wilson Says U.S. Air Force Now Most Powerful In World

... Defense Chief Promises 115 Wings By June 30

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said Monday night the United States now has "the most powerful and effective Air Force in the world."

"Our outstanding combat experience in Korea indicates that we also have the best pilots," Wilson said in an address before the Indiana Republican Finance Committee.

"We must continue to have air power second to none."

The defense chief included naval aviation in claiming supremacy for the nation's air arm.

"Not only will the Air Force have at least 115 good wings by June 30 of next year, but it is now clear that the interim goal of 120 wings can be met sooner than the Air Force thought possible last spring," he said.

Bond Incidentals Irk City; Appeal To County Is Set

City officials, unhappy with some of the expenses incidental to completion of the $6 million water revenue bond issue, will appeal to the county for relief.

While recognizing there is no relief at law, the city will ask the county to pay the expenses of County Clerk J. B. Morgan on his trip to Chicago to sign the bonds. The city will base its request on the fact that the county will receive $4,500 from the city on bond registration and certification fees.

City Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, a member of the Council's special travel committee, refused to approve funds to pay Morgan's expense and a similar amount for State Auditor Ray Johnson, also making the trip to sign the bonds.

No Alternative

As a matter of equity, said Mayor C. L. Jeary, the city should not have to pay the travel expenses. However, he said, there is nothing the city can do about it.

Morgan, explained Jeary, is county clerk and could, if he so desired, simply refuse to make the trip. The cost of transporting the bonds to Lincoln and back to Chicago, said Jeary, would be more than Morgan's and Johnson's expenses.

Transportation of the bonds by railway express, said Jeary, would cost $1,100 per $1,000 one way. With 6,000 bonds of $1,000 denomination each, said Jeary, the cost would be $6,600 one way or $13,200 round trip.

The Council also ran into objections from Mrs. Orme on paying the expenses of Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn back to Chicago to review operational costs of Lincoln City Lines with parent company officials there. The information wanted, said Mrs. Orme, could be submitted here.

City Council Faces Two Bottlenecks

Sewer Improvement, Paving, Problems

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The storm sewer improvement program and new paving presented the City Council with two formidable problems to solve in the week ahead.

The storm sewer problem calls for a decision on whether or not to do away with the lake at 14th and Harrison. Part of the open ditch channel which is included in the Harrison Street storm sewer runs from 17th and Smith to 14th and Harrison.

The route, however, must run through the south side of the lake. Deputy City Engineer Carl Fisher told the Council the cheapest and easiest solution to the problem would be to fill the lake, construct the channel through it and keep the area around the ditch maintained as a shallow winter ice skating pond that would be dry in the summer.

Alternatives

One other alternative, he said, would be to cut off about 25 per cent of the lake at the south side to provide a right-of-way for the sewer and leave the remainder of the lake as is. A second alternative, he said, would be to leave the lake as is and provide spillways for drainage water into the lake and out again into the ditch.

The paving problems involve costs to the city estimated by Fisher at about $8,000 for laying paving on two streets beyond the regular 26 foot width for which property owners are charged.

The streets are Sumner from 53rd to 58th and A. 56th and 58th. They are part of the paving district established for Peterson's Park Manor addition which also includes Sunset Rd., Circle Dr. north to Circle Dr. south, 58th, A to Sumner and all of Circle Dr.

Extra Paving

A, explained Fisher, is recommended to the city plan as a major arterial 40 feet in width. If that plan is followed, he said, the extra paving beyond the regular 26 feet which can be charged to property owners would cost the city about $5,000.

Existing paving in Sumner, he said, is 32 feet. To continue that width would cost the city about $3,000 in paving beyond the 26 feet standard.

The Council had no suggestions as to where the money would come from.

Gov. Crosby Sympathizes With 'Platters'

Gov. Robert Crosby said Monday that it did not seem "fair" that all the ruckuses arising over laws passed before he became governor should affect his home town.

He pointed out that the recent highway opinion preventing the department from re-locating roads not on the statutory system will result in suspension of construction plans for No. 38 south of North Platte, to which there is no opposition and a road improvement long demanded by North Platte and McCook as well as intermediate towns.

His action in following assessment equalization laws was a particularly hard blow to North Platte where assessments have long been low.

The governor also pointed out that another of the six projects that were scheduled for letting and will have to be suspended is the relocation of No. 2 between Lincoln and Cheney. No opposition has been voiced to this change, he said.

Another relocation that met no opposition but will have to be suspended is at the Big Springs Junction of U.S. 30 and No. 138.

City Council OKs Air Base Lease

The City Council has approved the mayor's signature of a 99-year lease by the government of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

After the city signing, the document will be sent to Washington for signing by the government. Terms of the new lease are the same as those contained in the document which became effective on June 15, 1952.

That original lease was to run to 1977. The extension to 99 years was approved by the voters last election.

Waverly Fetes Three Youth Ag-Citizenship Organizations

Over 100 persons attended Waverly's first "Recognition Night" Monday in the Waverly Grange Hall.

The purpose of the event was to show the people of the community the work that is being done and has been done by youths in the Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers and the 4-H.

Members of the Waverly FFA and their achievements were introduced by James Wall, local FFA instructor. Members of the FFA were introduced by Mrs. J. Bridgman, FFA instructor. The boys' division of the 4-H was introduced by Verdon Petersen, Lancaster extension agent, and the girls' division was introduced by Miss Frances Runty.

The speaker of the evening was Dale Johnson of Lincoln, a senior at the University of Nebraska, who delivered a humorous type address.

Several musical numbers were given by various members of the organizations during the evening. Mrs. Glenn Snyder was chairman of the event.

State, Regional Feeders Seek Benson Talks

OMAHA (AP) — Two livestock feeder groups meeting here Monday decided to invite Secretary of Agriculture Benson to come to Omaha to hear views of feeders on the current feeding question.

Meeting here were more than 40 representatives of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association and the Midwest Livestock Feeders Association. The latter's membership is in Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska. Together the organization represent 3,500 feeders.

The group adopted the following resolutions, all of them dealing with problems the feeders want to discuss with Benson:

Make Commodity Credit Corporation corn available for feeding purposes when necessary at a price not to exceed current market quotations by 5 cents a bushel.

That a grower be required to pay interest on his loan regardless of whether he redeems the corn or delivers it to the CCC to satisfy the loan. At present growers do not pay interest on the loan if the corn is delivered to the CCC.

That a price-support program guaranteeing producers of basic farm commodities 90 per cent of parity be adopted. The feeders contend a flexible support program would tend to increase production and surpluses.

Dr. Charles H. Patterson, chairman of the University Philosophy Department, discussed "Christian Ideals and World History" at the meeting.

"Are we going to have an era in which there will be 'peace on earth and goodwill toward men,'" he asked. In answer, he presented his arguments showing why he believes the positions taken by both optimists and pessimists are ill-founded and why the Christian interpretation of history furnishes the world with a third alternative which gives a ray of hope.

Christianity, he continued, sees "peace and goodwill toward men" as a possible goal. "There is nothing concerning the nature of man that will necessarily prevent its being achieved."

Ike Readies An Atomic Challenge To Russians

North Atlantic Treaty 'Is And Will Remain The Foundation Of Our Common Policy'

Bermuda Talk Communique Issued

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (Tuesday) (AP) — The Big Three ended their Bermuda conference early today and announced they had "agreed on various measures essential" for the solution of common problems confronting them.

"If the danger of aggression now appears less imminent," they proclaimed in an end-of-conference communique, "we attribute this to the mounting strength of the free world and the firmness of its policies."

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Laniel also declared their resolve "to maintain our joint efforts" to perfect their united strength as "the best guarantee of peace and security."

The North Atlantic Treaty, they declared, "is and will remain the foundation of our common policy."

"We shall remain resolute in maintaining our solidarity and vigilance against efforts to divide us," they asserted.

The conference ending came at 1:15 a.m. (12:15 a.m. EST), after almost 13 final hours around the big table at the Mid-Ocean Club here. The long last session had been necessitated by Eisenhower's plan to fly to New York later to address the U.N. Assembly on the perils of the atomic age.

During their final session, the Big Three sent notes to their embassies in Moscow for transmission to the Kremlin "urging" to send the British, French and foreign ministers to the conference.

Notes To Russia

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault sat in at the final session for Laniel, still confined to his bed by a lung infection.

During their final session, the Big Three sent notes to their embassies in Moscow for transmission to the Kremlin "urging" to send the British, French and foreign ministers to the conference.

They added, however, that they wished to reassure "all nations that they have no cause to fear that the strength of the West will be invoked in any cause of wrongful violence."

On the contrary, "it is the fundamental principle of the United Nations organization, which we serve, that the guarantees against aggression shall be universal in their application."

The gruelling session began at 10:30 a.m. yesterday. The day began even earlier for President Eisenhower who started conferences with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other aids shortly after 6 a.m. in order to review and polish the speech he was to deliver before the United Nations Assembly later today on the dangers of atomic war.

Behind the three men was an intensive discussion of Far Eastern affairs.

Ike Audience May Top TV, Radio Record

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — The largest daytime radio and television audience in American history may be tuned in Tuesday when President Eisenhower addresses the United Nations General Assembly.

Just 12 years ago Tuesday, on Dec. 8, 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt called for a declaration of war on Japan and the broadcast, surveys showed, reached a record 22 million U. S. homes.

That figure may be topped Tuesday as all four major radio networks carry Mr. Eisenhower's speech at 3 p.m. CST. The address will also be rebroadcast later by some of the networks.

Records of the A. C. Nielsen Survey Co., show that the most extensive television audience ever to see a show was on June 2, 1953. An estimated 18 million TV sets were tuned to the films of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

That record may also fall. The four television networks, NBC, CBS, ABC and Dumont, will carry the full speech "live." CBS will also carry the complete speech on film later in the evening.

Rogers Tract Ice Skating Request Received By City

A petition with 10 signatures has been submitted to the city requesting the use of the Rogers tract as a winter ice skating pond.

The petition stated that the tract would be ideally located and the topography is well suited for use as an ice skating rink. Very little grading would be required, said the petition, and maintenance cost would be very small.

It was suggested that the tract might be lighted for skating and city supervision furnished. The petition will be considered by the recreation board and park department.

—Economy Safeguards—
Benefits
Boosts To Be Urged
Plans Readied For Any Emergency, Says
Secretary Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said Monday the Eisenhower administration will recommend "substantial" broadening of the unemployment compensation system as part of overall plans to safeguard the economy against any depression.

Mitchell told a CIO United Auto Workers Union conference the administration feels it has a serious responsibility to keep the country prospering. The conference was called to consider growing unemployment in the auto and aircraft industries.

Mitchell said the administration plans a number of immediate steps to keep the economy in high gear and is blueprinting an emergency federal aid program for use if really bad times develop.

Two things that can be done now to bolster the economy, Mitchell said, are (1) broadening the unemployment compensation system as "a better shield against economic reversals" and (2) increasing the amount and coverage of the present 75-cent-an-hour federal minimum wage.

Plan Appeal To Congress
The amount and duration of unemployment compensation benefits have until now been fixed solely by the states under a federal tax system, Mitchell said he expects an increase in both the rate and duration will be recommended to the next Congress.

It was learned, however, that what is being considered is an appeal to Congress to broaden coverage of jobless benefits, by removing some exemptions now contained in federal law, and to urge that State Legislatures boost the benefit rate and duration.

Rates presently vary from a $20 weekly maximum in Arizona, Florida, Texas, South Carolina and the District of Columbia to a $35 weekly maximum in Alaska. Duration of benefits vary from 16 weeks in Arkansas, Florida and Virginia to 26½ weeks in Wisconsin.

President Truman recommended that Congress set a floor for benefits and their duration at $30 a week for 26 weeks, but the idea never got anywhere in Congress. Moreover, it appears the Eisenhower administration intends to let the states continue fixing rates and duration.

"Active Buyer"
Mitchell said broadening of the jobless payment system would provide greater "activity" and demand to wage earners and also maintain him as "an active buyer in the market during his period of unemployment."

He said the present unemployment insurance reserve fund of nearly nine billion dollars can become "a great force to prevent a downward spiral" if the benefits are "increased significantly" so the money could be pumped out fast when depression threatened.

Mitchell apparently has recommended that President Eisenhower sponsor boosting the present 75-cent minimum wage to something in the neighborhood of a 90-cent hourly minimum and to make it apply to more than the 22 million workers now covered.

Christianity Growing In Japan Since WW II
Christianity has gained in Japan since the end of World War II. Kunio Okabe of Tokyo told the Monday meeting of the Rural Ministers Association at the YMCA.

Okabe, a Nebraska Wesleyan University student, attributed the gain to the work of missionaries.

He also said that there is strong opposition in Japan to rearming. The United States is urging the country to rearm as a Pacific defense measure.

Rep. A. L. Miller Returns From Europe

Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), back from a tour of Europe, Monday points to a map of his travels as he tells of his trip. He said he is more firmly opposed to foreign aid to countries unwilling to defend themselves. He named specifically France and Italy as questionable beneficiaries (AP Wire-photo Monday Night).

Miller Repeats Aid Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) said Monday a recent tour of Mediterranean countries has intensified his opposition to U.S. economic aid programs.

"We've overstayed our welcome in a number of countries," he told reporters, "Economic aid ought to be stopped."

He added that U.S. military aid should be continued on a reduced scale only to those countries that show "a willingness to fight and defend themselves against Communism."

West Germany, Greece and Turkey, he said, probably would meet such a requirement, "but you can't count on Italy and France."

Miller, who has consistently opposed legislation setting up foreign aid programs and appropriations to carry them out, returned here from a three-week trip which took him to Naples, Rome, Athens, Istanbul, Madrid, Lisbon and Spanish Morocco.

He said the tour convinced him the U.S. programs "have helped other countries recover tremendously but haven't been without their mixed blessing."

"The money we've poured in over there has given them a disease known as inflation," said the congressman who is also a medical doctor.

Segregation
Debate Heard
By High Court
WASHINGTON (INS)—A famed constitutional lawyer John W. Davis told the Supreme Court Monday that neither the high tribunal nor Congress has the power to outlaw racial segregation in public schools.

The 80-year-old Davis, 1924 Democratic presidential nominee, climaxed the first day of final arguments on the segregation issue with an attack on the federal government's position against separate schools for Negroes and whites as "lame and impotent."

He was opposed by Thurgood Marshall, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who asserted that the issue before the court was whether the "archaic customs of the South" and the "avowed intent of our Constitution" shall prevail.

The historic debate continues Tuesday, when Assistant Attorney General J. Lee Rankin is expected to present the government's case in support of the petitioners demanding that segregation be ended by Supreme Court decree.

S. D. Clifford Dies
Samuel D. Clifford, 84, 4132 So. 40, died Monday night at his home.

He is survived by three sons, Maurice R., James O. and Robert V., all of Lincoln; a sister, Lena Jones, Hollywood, Calif.; and seven grandchildren.

Three Safe
Crackings
Net $9,000

Food Market Loses
More Than $8,000

Lincoln police had out an all-man alert Monday as they continued investigation of three safe burglaries over the week end that netted close to $9,000.

One home break-in Monday morning was believed solved when a man identified by a neighbor was picked up after $21 was reported taken from the Wright P. Robinson home at 420 No. 20. He was not believed involved in the safe jobs, however.

Burglars netted one of the largest hauls in recent years from Leon's Food Mart at 2200 Winthrop either Sunday afternoon or night and made off with $7,584 in cash and checks and a $500 War Bond made out to Leon Edelson, owner of the Mart.

Second Safe
A second safe burglary was reported Sunday night when a night patrolman noted an open door at the Winterhalter Paint Store at 1346 P St. Loss was reported at $835 in currency and receipts from Saturday night business.

The two safe burglaries Sunday night followed by a day the break-in of the safe at the Goodwill Industries, 1822 N St., in which $112 was stolen from a smashed safe that was broken open with one of the Industries' own sledge hammers.

Adelson told police that protective bars were sawed through on a basement window under the loading dock through which entrance was gained to the store. The safe, located at the checking counters, was rolled to the rear of the store and the dial pin knocked out. When efforts apparently failed in opening the safe, the burglars wheeled it out on the loading dock and drove away. The safe weighed close to 200 pounds and was 2½ feet by 2½ feet.

Police said the safe at Winterhalter showed no signs of being opened forcefully, and that a key apparently had been used to open the front door. A paper carrier, Frankie Robinson, 15, of 5618 Morrill, and his father found the cash box and money sacks from the burglarly behind the Skyline Cafe at 5600 Cornhusker Highway.

A fourth break-in at Teamsters Union office at 246 So. 8th had police suspecting because $2 in bills in a sealed envelope was left untouched while seven cents was missing. Also left alone was a $20 bill in plain sight in a drawer.

In the fifth break-in over the week end, nothing was reported missing at the Skelly Oil Company office at 4th and N Sts., although a padlock was knocked off a door. M. G. Sharp said nothing was missing.

Dean Offers 'Final' Plan

PANMUNJOM (Tuesday) (AP)—U.S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean today handed the Communists a "final offer" plan for a Korean peace conference at Geneva but the Reds flatly rejected it.

South Korea boycotted the meeting and attacked Dean's action as the path to "disastrous defeat."

"This is our final offer," Dean told the Reds. He said he was authorized to sign if the Communists accepted.

Dean later told correspondents he would return to the United States unless the Reds changed their minds "in a reasonable time." But he refused to tell his time limit for Communist action.

Ike Promises Aid

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower promised France Monday the United States would continue full support for French forces fighting the Communist-led Vietminh in Indochina, a French delegate reported.

The authoritative information came out after the Big Three carried out a detailed survey of the seven-year old war including the recent peace feelers from Ho Chi Minh, Moscow-trained leader of the Vietminh rebels.

DENVER (INS)—A suit to enjoin Interior Secretary Douglas McKay from putting his new power policy into effect will be filed before Jan. 1 unless the deadline for public power purchase applications is postponed until Jan. 1, 1955.

Colorado REA Association President Lewis E. Amend said the REA will serve McKay with notice of intention to file the suit this week.

He said the suit will be filed in Federal District Court in Washington, D. C., in behalf of the approximately 350 Missouri Basin rural electric serving an estimated 3 billion people. (Story on Missouri Basin power policy on Page 6.)

New Road Ruling Averts Extra Session; Questions Still Remain

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The galaxy of Statehouse lawyers assembled by Gov. Robert Crosby came up Monday with legal interpretations incorporated in an attorney general's opinion that saved the governor from having to call a special session of the Legislature to straighten out the middle in highway laws and at the same time "save face" of attorneys who had drafted original opinions.

The "Houdini" feat got an assist from the governor, who said he was satisfied with the latest opinion as serving his purpose. He withdrew his request for five other opinions on questions he had asked.

The opinion from the attorney general's office was based on the question as to whether the appropriation bill permitted use of the highway cash fund for maintenance of non-statutory highways.

This question was different from those previously put to the attorney general, which dealt with regular statutes regulating the expenditure of highway funds.

On the newly-phrased question, the opinion said that "reimbursements shall go into the highway cash fund, without further restriction" and therefore may be used for maintenance of these highways.

The legend came in asking the question about the appropriation bill rather than about previously passed statutes dealing with operations of the Highway Department.

While the action will permit continued maintenance of roads not on the statutory system, unless some taxpayer should question the opinion in court, the next regular session will be faced with the necessity of practically rewriting several chapters of the highway laws.

Authority In Doubt

Unanswered are such questions as:

(1) Where does the Highway Department get authority to prepare plans and let contracts in behalf of federal aid projects? Authority was granted for their co-operation with the federal government in 1917 and the law repealed in 1919.

(2) What is the federal road system and does the department have authority to make regulations for it?

(3) What funds can be used for construction? At present the Legislature in the appropriation bill puts all department income in one cash fund.

(4) Does the department have the right of eminent domain on non-statutory highways?

(5) What is the state highway system? Does it include all roads on which state or federal funds are expended, as has been the contention for 25 years, or only statutory highways?

Gov. Crosby affirmed what State Engineer L. N. Ress has stated when the governor said that there is need "for complete modernization and up-dating of highway laws."

The governor said such legislative action was not suitable for a special session because it "needs to be carefully studied." Immediate remedial legislation would not meet the full needs, he explained.

The Highway Department and Highway Advisory Commission should work in preparation of a bill to be presented to the 1955 session, the governor said.

Separate Fund Studied

Meantime, Treasurer Frank Heintze and Auditor Ray Johnson began checking to determine methods by which they can be certain that withdrawals from the cash fund are not in excess of those which under the opinion can be used for maintenance of non-statutory highways.

Heintze was considering setting up a separate fund so that a record could be kept of income and expenditures of the two different kinds. Johnson said that after reading the opinion he would confer with Ress on how claims could be classified.

Ress, in turn, said the department

In Fairness To Curtis

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, of the First Nebraska District, returned to the arms of the home folks with a promise to introduce legislation at the next session of Congress which Mr. Curtis said would improve America's Social Security program. That is good news.

Understandably his bill has not been reduced to language yet. That is a big job, which will take time. But we will take Mr. Curtis at his word when he says that he proposes to correct defects in the present Social Security program to accomplish these objectives:

1—To extend coverage to about 20 per cent of gainful workers still excluded from the program.

2—To correct a situation which Mr. Curtis says results in more than half the retired aged presently being denied old age survivors' insurance benefits.

3—To so revise the program that more than 40 per cent of the widows and orphans he says are now denied benefits receive them.

Mr. Curtis seems to feel that he has been badly treated in the study of social security which as chairman of a sub-committee of the House he has undertaken.

"I have been verbally pounded, harassed and blockaded by the rudest hatchet men that the left wing partisan groups could produce. Let me be misunderstood I want to state that not all of the minority members of my committee have performed in this manner."

Who are the hatchet men to whom Mr. Curtis refers? The news dispatches indicated that he and Rep. Dingell got into a hassle at one stage of the hearing. That is unfortunate. Rep. Dingell is an able, veteran member of the House. Curtis also came under the blistering tongue of Rep. Eberhardt of Pennsylvania, another highly regarded member of the House. Eberhardt, if we recall correctly, is not a member of the committee but has been sitting in on the hearings.

In the rough and tumble atmosphere of partisan Washington Mr. Curtis should console himself that when he gets through he will have strengthened the social security program. If he accomplishes that much in the face of all the criticism that has been levelled at him he will have even greater reasons for pride in his achievement.

Nebraska Blazes A Trail

All too infrequently, we are inclined to think, developments on the campus of the University of Nebraska fail to attract attention they may deserve in a national sense.

It should stand to the eternal credit of the presently constituted Board of Regents—its president, C. Y. Thompson of West Point—and his colleagues—that in defining the functions of an educational institution and the instructional staff of that institution, the board gave voice to a doctrine sorely needed in this country. In passing upon the recent protest of the Hall County Farm Bureau Federation against Dr. C. Clyde Mitchell, the board expressed itself in the noblest traditions of the free mind.

Under the heading, "Fresh Breeze From Nebraska," the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, one of America's great newspapers, editorially had this to say in part:

"It is a pleasure to record a gain, in contrast to the all too frequent losses, for the cause of academic freedom and common sense. At the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture in Lincoln, there is a vigorous young professor of agricultural economics. Mr. Mitchell is in favor of fixed price supports. He believes that Secretary of Agriculture Benson's plan for flexible price supports would expose farmers to the hazards of an unsupported market in a society where subsidies to business, labor and other groups would put farmers in an unfair competitive position. Mr. Mitchell may be right or he may be wrong. In any case, he expressed his views freely in public speeches and in his classrooms. . . . He was accused of radicalism, of advocating 'destruction of the free enterprise system,' of 'indoctrinating students.' The university regents opened an inquiry. The result of that inquiry is the splendid statement which we reprint on this page. The University of Nebraska regents courageously took its stand when it said:

"The rights to uphold, to discuss and dissent are the moral fiber of America's greatness. They are likewise the strength of a great university."

Say it again and again—unfurl it to the breezes from the Atlantic to the Pacific—let its echoes ring through the streets of the cities to the farms of America!

What is it that we truly cherish here in America? We are happy, indeed, when out of mind and conscience we find ourselves in agreement. We are even happier—more appreciative of the full meaning of freedom—when freedom's definition recognizes the precious right to disagree. Freedom means no test in this country when there is no dissenting voice—no disagreement. Conscience and mind enjoy freedom only when they enjoy the right to dissent or to disagree. And therein in simple few words is the true greatness of this nation and its institutions.

We can think of no finer contribution that the National Education Association (NEA) could make to education in America than to see to it that the statement made by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska is in the hands of every governing educational body in this country.

Of Men And Things

It appears clear that there is some unfinished business in Nebraska. After days of confusion and uncertainty over the need for a special legislative session to correct reputed defects in highway legislation, it seems timely to suggest that before another regular session gets under way, all of the laws governing highway construction in Nebraska should be examined critically with an eye towards revision, if revision is needed.

Part of our troubles grow out of the fact that roads in Nebraska seem to be a little bit of everybody's business. We have been reluctant to center responsibility, perhaps unconsciously, for development of a comprehensive highway system to serve the people of the state. We have been hesitant to give a highway commission, the state engineer and his staff, or any other agency sufficient freedom of decision, particularly when it comes to the location or the relocation of roads, to get the job done. The Legislature since the very beginning of the program has kept its fingers in. Understandably communities have felt that they should have some say. The result is a continuing hodgepodge of legislation in which it would not be surprising if contradictions are to be discovered. Back in 1947 Walter James made a study of the laws bearing upon highways, in practical effect a recodification of highway laws, but for some unexplained reason nothing came of it.

If we were Gov. Crosby, it occurs to us that we would suggest to the Nebraska Legislative Council that a careful study of highway laws be made without delay so that when the next regular session of the Legislature opens, any needed revision can be taken early.

The immediate question was the maintenance of 1,950 miles of so-called "federal" highways—approximately 20 per cent of Nebraska's roads. In elaborating upon an earlier opinion, Attorney General Clarence S. Beck Monday ruled that the Legislature had taken adequate steps to make available funds for maintenance of the roads now designated as "federal" highways. An earlier opinion had left that question dangling in the air. It was a happy ending. Gov. Crosby is to be congratulated that a satisfactory solution has been found without calling the Legislature back into special session. At the same time there is no reason why these questions as to what can and what cannot be done should continue to arise. The legislative Council itself can initiate the necessary study of highway law to see to it that the state's house is in order when it comes to legislative authorization for what needs to be done.

No Justification For Confusion

Our chief headache in this state has been the lack of adequate revenue to build the kind of a highway system acceptable to the people of Nebraska. The money problem has been corrected to a substantial degree through an increase in the gasoline tax and motor vehicle registration fees. If the highway laws need to be revised let's get the job done.

Descent Of Hiss

Alger Hiss, Harvard intellectual and top drawer government employee whose zeal for Communism finally won him a five-year prison sentence and the withdrawal of acceptance by the American people, was recently refused his request for parole. He began his sentence in 1951.

It was hardly to be expected that a man so deeply involved in the subversion of his country would be granted a parole from a sentence so seemingly light as five years. His conviction for perjury hardly measured the magnitude of his alleged activities.

But the incident served to bring up a greater concern in Hiss' life. His punishment in prison will come to a normal end with the expiration of his term. But the long years ahead, the years of freedom, will bear heavily upon him. What comfortable place is there for a man in a native land that has lost faith in him? To what foreign place can he go where his sin will not follow. And certainly he cannot look forward to a place of honor and security in the lands of Communism. For in their way of evaluating men he was useful only because of his connections and where he was. And he failed because he got caught and lost those assets. Communism does not forgive failure nor does it offer any rewards for past usefulness.

Life can be unbearable when one must live without the approval of his brethren. It is always the deeply sad story of The Man Without a Country. However discontented he may presently be behind bars, it is probable that he never will have a happier moment any more.

New Approach

The hit-and-run type of traffic violator which includes also those who evade the courts that have traffic tickets against them compose a sizable segment contributing to the country's high accident rate. The State of Maryland believes that once that gang is brought to heel highway safety will firm up considerably. To do so it has provided that wherever an unsatisfied traffic charge lies against a car owner his car license will not be renewed until he has cleared the record. He can hunt up the court or keep his car off the road.

Brownell Aimed At Joe But Hit Harry

WASHINGTON—Inside story of the McCarthy-Eisenhower controversy is that the Wisconsin fire-eater had planned to come out in his last statement shooting out from the hip with a devastating attack against John Foster Dulles and his law partner, Arthur Dean, now in Korea trying to negotiate peace.

It was placid, roly-poly Ien Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who finally went to McCarthy's office and persuaded him to call off the dogs. Hall had to mingle threats with persuasion before McCarthy agreed.

What Senator McCarthy had got hold of was the record of Arthur Dean as a vice president of the Institute of Pacific Relations. This is the group which published Amerasia and in which certain Communists infiltrated during the war.

McCarthy was ready to publish certain records which, according to some interpretations, might have linked Dean with U.S. appeasement toward Red China. He had prepared a rip-roaring statement blasting the secretary of state and his law partner, now in Korea.

When Len Hall heard about this, however, he went to see McCarthy. At no time did he lose his temper. It was always Joe and Len. However, Len told Joe that if he went ahead with his blast, he, Hall, and every Republican leader would issue statements against him.

Hall argued that McCarthy's attacks on Eisenhower were merely helping the Democrats. He also pointed out that if McCarthy would tone down his statement, the Republican leaders would drop their battle against him.

McCarthy agreed. He even submitted his greatly watered-down statement to Hall. Hall read it, and while he didn't approve it, he said he didn't think it would offend the White House too much.

Hall then went to the White House and reported to Ike. When he left he was confident he had arranged a truce. But he hadn't counted on one thing. McCarthy put an extra kicker in his statement. The typed statement was so milk-toast that the Baltimore Sun correspondent Phil Potter asked: "Senator, could this be described as a perfumed note to the administration?"

That was before McCarthy added the kicker—which was verbal. He kicked the American people wrote letters to the White House urging that Ike change his foreign policy regarding China. And the White House despite any reports to the contrary, just didn't appreciate this a bit.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

President Eisenhower's statement that every American has the "right to meet his accuser face to face" was made off the cuff. Before he delivered the speech, he told Jewish leaders: "I am not going to use a script. I want to speak straight from the heart." In spite of its sincerity, the statement backfired in Washington, where more than 300 employees have been dismissed by the Eisenhower administration for no opportunity to face their accuser. Furthermore, government security officers admit privately that they have no intention of changing their procedure. They hope the public will forget what the President said.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Press Kept Guessing As Big Three Confer

BERMUDA—This tight little island is one of the few places in the free world where in peacetime this kind of conference could have been held—that is to say, a conference from which the flow of the news is strictly controlled, with the principals walled away from access by public and press.

The pattern was set in World War II, when the Big Three—then it was Churchill, Roosevelt, and Stalin—could exercise censorship to black out all knowledge of their whereabouts until they were ready to make an official announcement. At Teheran, the security was so strictly enforced that it was impossible for anyone without proper permits to get near the city.

Bermuda, which was Sir Winston's choice, affords at least an approximation of this security. The principals and most of their staffs have been out of sight and out of sound at the MidOcean Club, protected by the Bermuda Constabulary, the Royal Welch Fusiliers, the United States Secret Service, Scotland Yard and a few French security agents thrown in for good measure.

This has meant wall of frustration for some 200 newspaper, television and radio correspondents and commentators. For while security barriers could be put around the conferees, the press could not be conveniently excluded as it was at Teheran. So we have spent a good deal of time, for the most part, unsuccessfully trying to get over the wall.

Persistent reporters have not been content with official reports made by briefing officers for each of the three countries, complaining that these reports were too meager. They have followed down every possible lead that might yield additional information.

Officials at the MidOcean Club have been unperturbed by telephone to give at least one background conference that might throw additional light on what was happening. They have said no.

If the press or a considerable segment of it has been resentful, so have some of the officers responsible for giving out what was officially decided should be given out. On the official side of the fence, the feeling has grown that the press means to trespass on ground necessarily secret at such a high level meeting between heads of friendly governments. This may partly be a reflection of the critical feeling of White House aides toward newspaper reporters as a result of several recent white house press conferences at which these officials felt reporters became cross examiners.

The balance between what must be secret and what should be news is certain ways to be difficult. The almost instinctive tendency of government is to clasp to its capacious breast everything that might even remotely get anybody in trouble.

No one would argue that the three chiefs and their foreign ministers should have met in a public arena with 200 reporters following every move as though it were an international tennis match. That would have reduced the conference to an empty ceremony.

An objective, perhaps in Churchill's view the major objective, could have been achieved only in private. That was to establish a close and friendly relationship between President Eisenhower and Sir Winston, who may or may not have a place in the new French government to be constituted next month.

Churchill has believed in personal government and personal diplomacy to such an extent that many Americans look upon him as a cunning old spider only waiting to lure the innocent American fly into his web. In "Triumph And Tragedy," the sixth and last volume of his history of World War II, a significant passage reveals the Churchillian determination to keep the reins in a few hands. He quotes his June, 1944 message to Roosevelt in the midst of a disagreement over allied policy in the Balkans, as follows:

"Is all this effective direction (by the Big Three personally) to be broken up into a committee of mediocre officials such as we are littering about the world? Why can you and I not keep this in our own hands, considering how we see eye to eye about so much of it?"

If he could see eye to eye with Eisenhower as a result of this Bermuda meeting, Churchill would feel that it had served its purpose and more. He would be encouraged to believe that his cherished dream of initiating an era of peace like that of the age of Victoria, in which he was born, had at least a chance of being realized.

During his stay here every kind of idea has been put up to Churchill's aides for television and newsreel interviews, for statements. These petitions have had little chance, since the concern of the men around the old prime minister is to conserve his energy for what he must do. But perhaps the guard put up to keep out the world is too tight. A courier was sent out to buy a toothbrush for Sir Winston, but the security check was so close the courier could not get back into the club with it.

Japan Seeks A Policy

(From The London Economist)

(Editor's Note: Japan does not wish to go along with the United States in its search for a power in its own right. Meanwhile, it inclines toward India's type of neutralism plus cooperation with the United States. But it can't live without American aid. No it waters, so says The Economist, giving the British view.)

With the reluctant departure for Southeast Asia of Mr. Katsuo Okazaki, the harassed Foreign Minister, Japan has begun a half-hearted search for a post-peace foreign policy. It is significant and appropriate that this first simulation of independent action, untrammelled by considerations of American policy, should have been undertaken only after diplomatic but impatient promptings by Washington.

The Japanese Government is now suffering humiliations far worse than the benevolent discipline imposed by Gen. MacArthur; it would like to rattle the sabre, but it needs a sabre; it would like to spurn United States aid, but it needs the dollars.

The once mighty Foreign Office literally wears a handglock look; last week a visitor, speaking his mind, said that the government was able to direct a postwar taxicab driver to the imposing official building only after he remembered that it was opposite a popular night-club.

A policy of calculated drift and opportunism has spread irresistibly from the Treasury to the Foreign Office. Until now, something has kept turning up. First there was the Korean war; then followed anticipation of Korean reconstruction windfalls, MSA aid, American off-shore buying and even the bright prospect of renewed heavy fighting in Indochina. However, with a brave smile if a heavy heart, Mr. Okazaki has now had to fly south to explore the possibilities of Filipino ratification of the San Francisco peace treaty and of bilateral peace treaties with Burma and Indonesia.

(with a sigh) has withdrawn as an influential force from Asia. Australia, still more fearful of the 1942 memory of Japan than of the 1953 threat of Asian Communism, has become the British Commonwealth spokesman in the Pacific, and has deliberately preferred America to Britain as an ally. The contending forces in the Orient are now Asian Communism and Americanism.

Japan's leaders want no part of either; and would dearly like to pay off one against the other; there are many industrialists who are recklessly confident that this feat is practicable.

Neater home, the Japanese Government is enraged but helpless in the face of South Korean shooting attacks on any Japanese fishing-boats that venture inside the loosed "MacArthur Line," up to 70 miles distant from the South Korean coast. Japan's interest in a Korean settlement is historic and paramount, but the nation must apparently watch any East-West negotiations from the sidelines. Hopes of U. N. membership are recognized to be remote.

A Course for Britain

Meanwhile, the possibility of an attractive peace offensive by Russia and Communist China overhangs the Japanese scene. This possibility could become a disturbing probability if the present conservative government in Tokyo were replaced by a socialist one, wearing an Oriental Nenni kimono and eager to snatch at any promising alternative to American aid and influence—which is now so obviously loaded and is, ironically, therefore calculated to hasten that very replacement.

While Mr. Okazaki, with some perplexity, looks to the South for advantages, Britain might, with profit, look to the East.

India's "neutralism" is a heady and glittering lure. Not that wishful thinking has completely blinded the Japanese rulers. As Asians, they have no faith in the Washington policy for Asia. Privately, they do not disguise their conviction that the British policy toward Mao Tse-tung is the only logical course. They dismiss Chiang Kai-shek as a defeated leader, without face, future or successor.

They are no more pro-Communist than they ever were, but they believe that they must do business with China, whoever is in control in Peking, and somehow restore their influence in Asia. Their dilemma is to reconcile these aspirations with the implicit and explicit commitments of dollar aid.

No Room

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In my humble opinion, the extravagance of modern Christmas festivities, taken from the manger of Bethlehem its true significance, that of a lowly Babe born in the shadow of a cross.

Angels host of King proclaim
The mirth of long ago past
Who followed in His train.

The three wise men who saw the star
Which guided them to Bethlehem
Where once their Lord in manger lay,
His birthplace just a cattle pen.

And Holy Mary Mother mild
With Joseph humbly kneeling before
Their royal Son of David's line
To make obeisance, and adore.

"The Christmas, and the world below,
Gone money mad, since King on his tree
With precious gifts within the inn
Rejoice with his family."

Outside the door as long ago
The Holy Family stands,
Knocking and waiting to enter in
With lanterns in their hands.

War, lust and greed padlock the door,
It has no room nor bed
For the weary, footsore, broken soul
Have a lowly cattle shed.

Unfair To The Poor

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Withering is the indictment of Phillip Vogt, director of the Douglas County Welfare Administration.

And there stands revealed in all its nakedness, the debasement that has been visited upon the aged of this state. But the Douglas county director could have told more. He could have said that the chief engagement in Nebraska, at the hands of the state assistance administrators, is that of dead-beating honest claims. Through rules and regulations they do that. The needs-test is based upon pauperism for the claimant must first seek direct county relief before becoming eligible for state assistance. Pauper laws are being used to debase the intent of welfare.

He could have told that Nebraska ranked 29th in the smallness of assistance payments despite the fact that $4,250,000 has been diverted from the state assistance fund.

Flag Protocol

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Following a recent parade, I noticed a discussion of proper flag acknowledgment, which seems so sadly neglected by many of our citizens.

It is my understanding that for the sake of simplification and also to eliminate what is likely to create a somewhat comic effect with repeated bobbing off and on motions of the hat, etc., that the colors at the head of a parade should be so acknowledged, and any subsequent ones—such as those used for decorative purposes—not so.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I can do without The Star now. The editorial, "A Lesson For Us" (Dec. 2), may well have marked a turn back to sanity as far as this section is concerned. In The Star I particularly like the editorials, the farm news coverage, which I think is superb; Pearson and Childs; the "People Speak" department; the two comic strips, "Louisiana Pur-

STILL FRIENDS

We don't agree on many things.
I'd never wear his ties.
The pie to him the waitress brings
Is not my choice of pies.
Although we've many an argument,
Regardless of the time we've spent,
We always part as friends.

What pleases him, displeases me,
We've noticed now and then.
Alike we were not meant to be,
Except as gentlemen.

A different church from week to week
Each one of us attends,
And since the self-same God we seek
We stay the best of friends.

I laugh at him: he laughs at me.
My ways to him seem strange.
Whenever we meet we disagree,
But neither wants to change.
'Tis well that not upon some whim
True comradeship depends.
He's fond of me, I'm fond of him,
And we're the best of friends.

Trieste Border Returning To Normal

GORIZIA, Italian-Yugoslav border (AP)—Normal conditions were fast returning to the Italian-Yugoslav frontier. Monday night after two months of explosive tension over disputed Trieste.

On both sides of the border, long convoys of men, guns and tanks rumbled back toward their permanent bivouacs in a mass withdrawal expected to require 15 days.

The withdrawal was announced by both Italy and Yugoslavia. It dramatized the easing of relations between the two Adriatic powers which for eight years have been quarreling over division of the free territory of Trieste.

The number of troops involved in the border withdrawal is unofficially estimated at 22,000 Italians and about 40,000 Yugoslavs, mostly crack units sent to the border when the Trieste crisis grew acute. Normal frontier garrisons will remain.

Equally significant was Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella's disclosure that Italy again is permitting export of strategic materials to Yugoslavia.

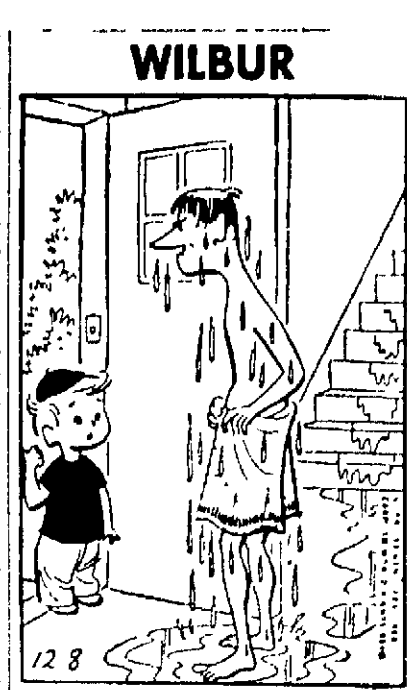

A question mark remained When—and if—a five-power conference will take place to seek a permanent solution to the Trieste issue.

Counter Demands

France, Britain and the United States had suggested the conference. Italy had insisted it be permitted to take over Allied-occupied Zone A of the free territory before such a conference. Promised that its officials could begin learning the job before the conference even if the Italians could not yet occupy Zone A officially, Italy agreed to meet. Yugoslavia declined to participate if Italian officials were to be already present in Zone A.

At Bermuda the Big Three proposed that Italy go to the five national conference first and her official begin moving into zone shortly after. Diplomats say Italy reluctantly is willing to do this.

Power Sale Policies Said Not Necessarily Pattern

Senators Probing New Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of Interior Ralph Tudor Monday defended new policies regulating the sale of public power in the Missouri River Basin and said they would not necessarily set a nationwide pattern.

Tudor and other high interior department officials, one of whom was subpoenaed early Monday morning, testified before a Senate judiciary subcommittee which opened a three-day investigation of the controversial new policy. Sen. Langer (R-ND) is the committee chairman.

The subpoenaed official was Fred G. Aandahl, assistant secretary in charge of water and power.

The new interior policies, known as marketing criteria, give all users of Missouri Basin public power up to Jan. 1 to estimate their power needs. After that date, the government ostensibly would sell any further power requirements to private interests which in turn would resell the power to the public.

Aandahl told the subcommittee Monday the new marketing guidelines had been written with "very careful attention" to existing laws. He said he was confident the new policy would stand up in a court test.

"I do not anticipate any serious question of the present policy, as regards to its legality," he told the subcommittee.

Opposed By REA
The new policies are bitterly opposed by Rural Electrification Administration (REA) co-operators, which claim they will lead to a reduction of power available to them.

Several senators and congressmen have assailed the department for issuing the new criteria. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told Secretary of the Interior McKay last week their legality was questionable and hinted at an early court test.

Aandahl repeatedly spoke of a "limited number" of 20 year contracts which his department would allow. He said the Mountain States Power Co., near Casper, Wyo., provided a perfect example of a utility which, if it wanted, could bet a firm, 20 year delivery commitment.

Aandahl, a former Republican governor of North Dakota, said power would be kept available for future needs of co-ops and other preference customers. No non-preference user, he said, would get a 20 year contract "without specific justification."

Under the new criteria, the withdrawal clause now placed in contracts between the government and private customers will disappear.

These customers will be able to get maximum 20 year contracts. Thus, the co-ops and other preference users argue that they must in effect assess their needs for the next 20 years and com-

Nebraska Courthouses

Tower Crowns Saunders County Courthouse

From the 125-foot, copper-domed tower atop the Saunders County courthouse in Wahoo the Lincoln skyline 30 miles away can be seen. County Clerk Earl A. Morin says the tower is a favorite spot from which Wahoo residents have viewed flood damage. The three-story structure was built in 1903 for a total cost of $87,000. Murin said the tower walls depict early Nebraska scenes such as Indian raids, wagon trains, the Wahoo Creek and the first Saunders County courthouse. (Star Photo) mit themselves to heavier purchases of power than they may need.

The withdrawal clause now placed in private—or non-preference—contracts allows the government to reduce amounts of power available to the private users if preferred customers bid for it.

McPhail said he doubts whether "there is now going to be any power available for non-preference customers" anyway.

Preference purchasers of power are REA co-operators, cities and other local governmental bodies. All others are called non-preference buyers.

Committee Counsel Wayne Smith asked Tudor whether the new marketing criteria would set "a nationwide pattern."

Tudor said not necessarily, that he did not see the need for a similar arrangement either in California or the Bonneville power administration. He indicated, without amplifying, that the southwest power administration does have a need for some new marketing criteria.

The Hells Canyon dam controversy involving power projects on the Snake River in Idaho also came up at Monday's hearings. William C. Wise, counsel for

Fromkin Denies 'Fix' Attempt In Kuykendall Murder Trial

OMAHA (INS)—Deputy County Attorney Robert Fromkin denied under oath Monday that any attempt had been made to "fix" testimony in the Joseph Kuykendall murder case.

The assistant prosecutor in the case was called to the stand and Chief Deputy County Attorney Robert McGowan was ordered to leave the courtroom during a hearing on a motion to disqualify the prosecuting attorneys.

Fromkin said McGowan told the state witnesses at a pre-trial conference: "All we want you to do is tell the truth. We don't want you to testify about something you know nothing about."

Fromkin also denied knowledge of a reported attempt to interview prospective jurors in the case.

'Scuff Marks'
He identified Earl L. Stewart, of the Douglas County surveyor's office, as the person who passed along to the defense attorneys information about the pre-trial conference of state witnesses.

The motion to disqualify the two prosecuting attorneys was made by Defense Attorney Eugene D. O'Sullivan, who argued that one state witness, former Deputy Sheriff Claude Hender Jr., offered to testify about "scuff marks" on Kuykendall's knuckles the day his wife died.

Hender did testify to that effect last Wednesday but repudiated the statement under cross-examination by the defense.

O'Sullivan declared that after the trial statements of deputy sheriffs, which indicated an attempt to "harmonize" testimony in the case, one deputy was discharged and another suspended.

Three Deputies Suspended
Sheriff Richard Collins admitted that three deputies had been suspended for "violating jail rules" but said there was no connection with the Kuykendall case.

O'Sullivan said the "only offense" of the deputies was that they "had the audacity to tell the truth."

O'Sullivan also asserted that the fatal beating of his wealthy wife, Ardath, 30, last June 18 in their trailer near Omaha.

The defense contends Mrs. Kuykendall died as the result of an accidental fall.

Services Tuesday For E. F. Schafer

OMAHA (AP)—Funeral services for Earl F. Schafer, 54 poultry farm operator, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Crosby-Kunold Mortuary. He died at his home Sunday after an illness of more than a year.

Surviving are his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Schafer of Omaha; three sons, Charles P. and Henry K., both of Omaha, and Earl H. of Los Angeles, Calif.; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Belman of Omaha.

Guard Okays Armory Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger of Nebraska said Monday the National Guard Bureau has approved plans for a $180,000 National Guard-Army Reserve Armory Grand Island, Neb.

The adjutant general met at the Pentagon Monday with Lt. Col. James H. Thompson of the Army Reserve Corps and National Guard Bureau officials. He said he submitted the armory plans to Thompson for study.

Final Okay Awaited
"I doubt if there will be any final decision by the Reserve Corps immediately," Henninger told a reporter.

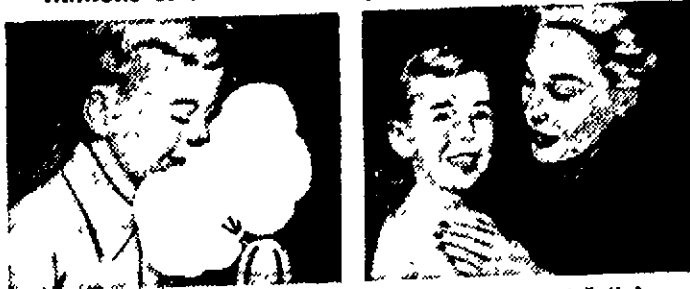

If the Grand Island Armory is approved by both National Guard and Reserve officials, he added, the way would be cleared for constructing others in Nebraska where there are reserve units—Fremont, Scottsbluff and North Platte.

About half of the cost would be paid by the federal government and the remainder by the state.

New Breed Of Cattle Sought By McCook Rancher

MC-COOK, Neb. (AP) — John T. Harris, a McCook rancher, is trying to find a breed of cattle that can survive Nebraska's winter and put on weight during the summer.

And when spring rolls around, Harris hopes he'll have the answer through a cross-breeding experiment which started when he brought two Charbray bulls to his 3,000-acre ranch.

He crossed the Charbrays with his Hereford brood herd. Heifer offspring of his match were crossed with Shorthorns. It is the offspring of this phase which are due in the spring.

At the same time, Harris bred Shorthorns with the Hereford breed. The result of the Shorthorn-Hereford match then was bred with the Charbray. This calf also is due in the spring.

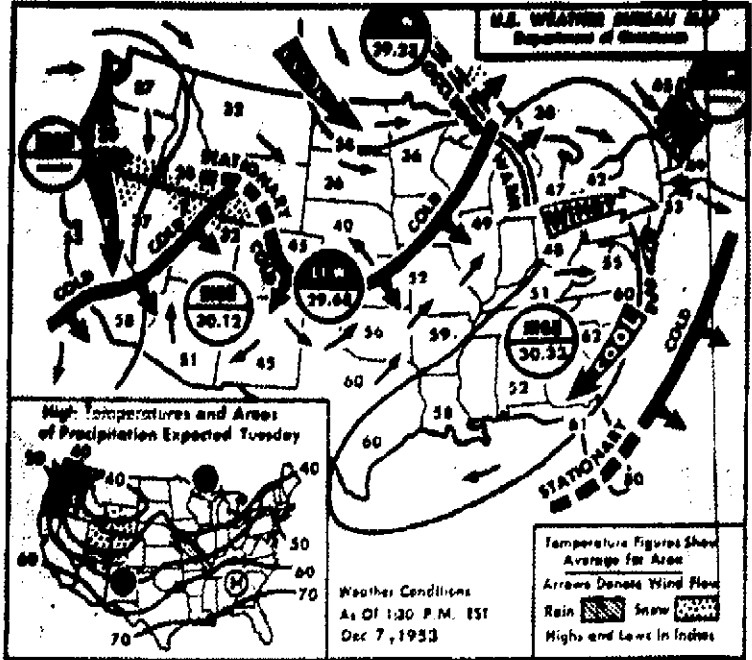

At the end of the experiment, Harris hopes he'll have an animal with the cold-weather qualities of the Hereford, the milk quantity of the Shorthorn and outstanding features of the Charbray—ruggedness, size, heat-resistance, insect-repellence and high butter-fat content of milk.

What comes next? Well, Harris plans to halt breeding for a year until heifers with these characteristics can be bred to drop their calves in the fall—another "must" in the McCook rancher's experiment.

"The way we look at it, it's better to have the calves born in the fall and be ready for market in August, earlier than most, and heavier, too," he explained.

They'll be heavier, he claims, because they will not have had the same rough winter as suffered by calves born in the midst of it. And, they will have Hereford cold-weather characteristics to help them through the winter.

The Charbray, a cross between Charollais of France and India's Brahma, is the key to the entire plan. Both animals sweat and therefore can withstand summer's heat.

Fair And Cooler Is Seen

Fair weather is forecast Tuesday for eastern U.S. except for light rain or snow in central Mississippi valley and rain in southeastern Oklahoma. Snow flurries are expected in central Rockies, and rain and snow in eastern Washington and Oregon. Rain is expected along Pacific coast. Remainder of nation will have fair weather. It will be warmer in Appalachians and Gulf states, and cooler in northern New England and the Great Lakes and central section of the country. (AP Wirephoto Map Monday Night.)

Charges Set Against GI From Omaha

BERLIN (AP) — An American soldier charged with luring comrades to desert to the Soviet Zone will face a general court-martial Wednesday afternoon.

The U. S. Army announced Monday the case against Pvt. Robert D. Blewens, 29, of Omaha, Neb., will include two charges of desertion, one of escape from confinement, conspiracy and violation of the Smith Act, which forbids consorting with people dedicated to overthrow of the government.

The Army charges Blewens deserted his unit and went to the Soviet Zone for 10 weeks. He returned, was placed in the stockade, and escaped. He was trapped at the home of his girl friend in the French sector and investigators said he admitted having been in the East zone a second time.

The Army claims Blewens and his German girl, Ingrid Jonck, conspired to entice other soldiers to go east and ask political asylum. The girl was convicted and is in a German jail, completing a six-month sentence.

Nurserymen Ask U Of N Research

The Nebraska Association of Nurserymen will ask the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture for a research program designed to increase the number and varieties of trees and shrubbery adaptable to growth in Nebraska.

President Duard Cronn of North Platte, following the business session Monday in Lincoln, said the group's research committee would meet with Dean W. V. Lambert of the College of Agriculture "to discuss the need for such research."

Details of the Association's action was not made public, but Cronn said the plan to secure greater research would be on a co-operative basis.

The action taken by the nurserymen was similar to that taken by the Nebraska Federation of Garden Clubs meeting last month in Fremont, he added.

Also during the business session, O. L. Erickson Jr. of Kearney was elected president of the association. He succeeds Cronn. Other officers are Mort Cooper of Fremont, vice president, and Charles Andrews of Omaha, secretary-treasurer.

Approximately 40 nurserymen were registered Monday for the two-day meeting at the Lincoln Hotel. Tuesday's program includes discussions by Elmer Spencer of Springfield, Ill.; Al Dodge of the USDA Plant Introduction Station at Ames, Ia.; and a panel composed of Dr. O. S. Bare, Dr. Jess Livingston, Dr. Victor Miller, and Wayne Whitney, all of the College of Agriculture.

Legion Plans Red China Ban Petition

A campaign to secure the signatures of Nebraskans on a petition protesting the admission of Communist China to the United Nations will be launched in a few days by state American Legion Posts.

The Nebraska posts in conjunction with the national American Legion are participating in the campaign of the Committee for One Million which is securing signatures on a petition to be forwarded to President Eisenhower.

Donald Wood, chairman of the Legion's state Americanism committee, said this is a non-partisan move pointing out that among the signers are men whose political viewpoints range from "extreme liberal" to "extreme conservative." Warren Austin, former United Nations representative, is chairman of the Committee for One Million.

Wood said Legionnaires throughout the state would contact members of other civic organizations so that all persons would be given the opportunity to sign the petitions.

Among the reasons stated on the petition for opposing admission of Red China are that the purposes of the United Nations charter would be destroyed, admission would destroy the prestige of the United States in Asia, and that the Chinese People's Republic has violated the laws of war and has proved itself an aggressor.

They're Talking About—Christmas

In Town to spend the holiday season are Mrs. Charles Stewart and her young son, James Charles (Jimmy)—for short—who arrived from Portland, Ore., last week-end to be the guests of Mrs. Stewart's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Clifford Hicks. Mr. Stewart will join his family here in time for Christmas.

Marriage Solemnized

In the presence of the members of the immediate families, Miss Donna Kay Hyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton F. Hyde of Webster Groves, Mo., and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Hyde of Lincoln, became the bride of Robert C. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Cooper of Webster Groves, at a ceremony which was solemnized Friday afternoon, November 27. Large white chrysanthemums and pompons filled pedestal baskets; and white candles burned in bronze candelabra, to appoint the chapel of Emmanuel Church, Episcopal, at Webster Groves for the service, which was read by the Rev. William Tibbitts.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Allen Berger of Kirkwood, Mo., who wore a softly tailored suit of beige wool with black accessories. She carried small white chrysanthemums and tiny pink orchids fashioned in the shape of a prayer book.

For her wedding, the bride chose a frock of white wool lace designed in the daytime mode. A low rounded neckline and bracelet-length sleeves accented the fitted bodice and slim skirt, and her small cap of white beaded wool was briefly veiled with illusion. She carried a white satin prayer book ornamented with a white orchid.

John R. Cooper of Webster Groves served his brother as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner for the members of the family was held at Le Chateau near St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will make their home at Denver, Colo.

LEARNED this morning that on our holiday guest list will be John H. Upon his graduation from the university Mr. Golden spent a year at school in Zurich, Switzerland—and since then has been in Germany.

After his six weeks' leave Mr. Golden will return to Munich. During his stay in Lincoln he will be the house guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Kos.

HAVE another name to add to the home-for-Christmas school set—it is Miss Carolyn Schimmel, who will plan in on Dec. 17, from Bradford College, Bradford, Mass., to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel.

WE SUSPECT that this is to be a very happy Christmas for another pair of grandparents—Dr. and Mrs. Allan Campbell, whose brand new granddaughter arrived on Monday, Dec. 7. # Air Force 'Volscan' Boosts Warplane Striking Range

New System Is Designed To End Plane 'Stacking Up' Over Airports

By JOHN B. KNOX
BOSTON (AP)—Air Force scientists Monday unveiled, on the 12th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, a new electronic air traffic control system to increase the efficiency and striking range of American warplanes.

"Volscan"—developed in secrecy in the past five years at the Air Force Cambridge Research Center—will extend the operational range of American planes on war missions, project scientist Benjamin F. Greene Jr., said.

A revolutionary automatic system for bringing aircraft into a base at precise intervals of 30 seconds, Volscan is designed to end the fuel-consuming "stacking up" of planes arriving over busy military—or civilian—airports.

Being assured of prompt landing, planes can use fuel for reaching targets at greater distances. Prompt landing could also mean quicker take-off afterward, and greater all-round efficiency. It solves the critical problem of landing jet planes quickly.

Orderly Sequence
A single installation can pick up approaching planes at a distance of 60 miles, and land them in orderly sequence at a rate of 120 per hour—not only at one airport but if necessary at several different airfields over a 22-mile radius.

Greene said there now exists no manual air traffic control system which can do what "Volscan" is capable of doing.

The system is ready now to be engineered for manufacturing.

Air traffic control became a problem in World War II and it resulted in Ground Controlled Approach (GCA) and Instrument Landing Systems (ILS).

However, it still was impossible to feed "stacked up" planes fast enough to GCA. Stacking held aircraft at various altitudes and in predetermined patterns over radio marker beacons. Such stacking often resulted in aircraft being held at unreasonable altitudes in icing conditions. It was fatiguing to pilots. And since a plane might be in any part of its stacking pattern, it could not be pulled out of the stack at the moment the landing system was ready to receive it.

30 To 40 An Hour
Manual air traffic control developed at the Cambridge Center could take care of 30 to 40 craft per hour. But with the development of high speed jets, a speed-up was essential. A jet, lowering its altitude, increases fuel consumption so fast that it must be landed virtually as soon as it begins to drop from cruising altitude.

Volscan—automatically handling all types of aircraft—is designed to deliver aircraft to GCA within the accuracy of nine seconds needed for a landing rate of 120 per hour.

Volscan reaches out some 60 miles, assigns a landing time for each approaching craft, and then automatically computes a course for each plane to bring it to the landing field at the assigned time. Flying speeds are not changed. Courses are altered merely by automatic computing devices to bring planes to landings in orderly sequence, night or day, regardless of weather.

The Volscan scientists say that despite the complexity of portions of the apparatus, the system is "basically simple" and will cost approximately $100,000 per air base—a small fraction of the cost of big, modern aircraft.

State Warrants Total $9 Million In November

State Auditor Ray Johnson reported Monday that during November his office issued 33,364 warrants for a total of $9,061,498 to cover state expenditures.

Biggest Expenditures came from the highway cash fund, $2,915,032. From the general fund, $2,209,120 was expended. Federal assistance amounted to $767,713 and the University of Nebraska cash auxiliary fund, $783,422. The state institutions cash fund was drawn on for $500,127.

Gas tax refunds to farmers required the writing of the largest number of warrants, 3,786 for refunds of $344,273.

26 Polygamy Leaders Given Suspensions

KINGMAN, ARIZ. (AP)—Twenty-six men members of the Short Creek polygamy colony were given suspended sentences Monday on charges of conspiracy.

The men, leaders in the cult which was smashed in a raid last July 26, had pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to commit open and notorious cohabitation.

Superior Court Judge Robert A. Tullar ordered that the men remain under suspended sentences until Dec. 1, 1954.

As a condition, he ordered each to report monthly "whether or not you have practiced polygamy in the last 30 days."

Violation, Judge Tullar said, would bring a prison sentence.

Total budgets for operation of Nebraska's 93 counties amount to $46,813,013, State Auditor Ray Johnson announced Monday.

The counties reported cash balances of $21,565,715 and estimated that revenue for the year would be $21,101,482. This would leave $13,501,308 to be raised by property taxation.

The counties reported that they are budgeting $21,022,560 for construction of roads and $5,581,019 for bridges.

Even with levies being made on 50 per cent of actual valuation Merrick County reported that they would only need to levy 1.114 mills to raise the needed county revenue. They were the lowest in the state although several other counties were but slightly higher.

Highest levy in the state was reported by Johnson County with 7.08 mills. Several other counties were in the 5 and 6 mill range.

Prior to passage of the 50 per cent assessment law, counties were limited to levies of 5 mills.

However, the attorney general held that with the new law the limit could be doubled.

Last year quite a number of counties levied to the maximum of 5 mills while this year the 7.80 of Johnson County is considerably below the 10 mills maximum when assessments are only figured at half of actual value.

Nehawka Is Contender For Cass County Title

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

That warmth which passed through the Lincoln Star area last week, probably was generated down in Nehawka where the hottest prep basketball club in the state was performing.

Coach Ted Schlessler's Indians walloped Union by a 104-36 score and established a mark for the Cornhusker teams to shoot at this winter.

Nehawka, carrying eight lettermen from a squad which built a 5-4 conference record last year, rates as an outstanding contender for the Cass County throne to which, Alvo ascended last year.

Center Ray Mayfield brings a 20-point average into the season after three years as an Indian regular. Guard Tom Johnson averaged 16 points the past year and also claims three years of experience.

Champion Alvo points to Dick Clark and Budd Hermann for their power in the conference race. These two six-footers were regulars on the Orleto team which licked strong Palmyra in the regional and bolted to the state semifinals in Class D in Lincoln before the dream was broken.

Three other lettermen are on the squad which has defeated Walton and Elmwood this season. R. H. Ihmig is the Alvo coach.

Four straight triumphs for Murdock suggest the conference may have to watch out for a tough Bulldog in this third year of league competition.

A 59-51 win over Palmyra and a 30 point triumph at Greenwood point to probable strength in Coach Buzz Gakemeier's boys. Ron Peters, a 6-5 senior center with good weight, is the big man in the Bulldog lineup. This is a senior club which must win this year or never.

Elmwood, loaded with experience, looked like a title threat before Alvo found them wanting in the big test last week. Conquerors of Avoca, Coach Bill Mickelson's team has pretty fair height in boys who picked up the winning spirit during a fine football season.

Six lettermen are at Eagle, champion in 1951 when the conference was organized. Coach Bill Reese's boys clipped Panama in their opener and met Elmwood this week in a sound challenge.

Louisville has nipped Peru Prep and meets Weeping Water and Alvo in early league play. Coach Darrell Brandenburg, the former Nebraska basketball player, has a short team with only three seniors.

Greenwood was walloped by Murdock but has five lettermen including All-County Dick Buckingham and John Thomson.

Weeping Water is an untested club while Avoca and Union appear to be the weakest members after early losses.

Methkovich Sold

NEW YORK (INS)—The Chicago Cubs Monday sold outfielder-first baseman George Methkovich to the Milwaukee Braves for an unannounced sum of cash. The 32-year-old Methkovich hit 212 in 87 games with Pittsburgh and the Cubs last season.

Cozad, 'Pokes Open Defense Of Crowns

The probability that a king's coronation is his finest hour and that the future is decidedly less spectacular, probably will be demonstrated this week by two members of the royal family of Nebraska prep basketball.

Boys Town and Cozad, crowned at the state tournament one Saturday last March, perform before their subjects without the boys who paid for their royal headgear.

The Omaha Cowboys have Coach Skip Pahang, talented Jim Cook and a handful of green reserves. They meet Omaha Tuesday and travel to North Platte Friday.

Here are some of the important state games Tuesday:

Omaha	at Chappell
Omaha	at Cedar Bluffs
Omaha	at Kearney
Omaha	at Lincoln
Omaha	at Omaha

U.N. Political Committee Okays Korea Debate Postponement

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A proposal postponing debate on the Korean situation indefinitely was approved Monday night by the 60-nation Political Committee of the U.N. Assembly.

Its backers included Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States delegate, and the American Allies in the Korean War. They aimed to avoid any discussion here which might wreck the delicate Panmunjom talks on a Korean peace conference.

The vote in the committee was 55-0 with the Soviet bloc abstaining.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky blamed the United States for "dilatory" progress of the Panmunjom talks and said the Assembly should look into that situation.

The vote was on a plan hammered out over numerous cups of tea in Lodge's apartment Sunday when he talked for two hours with V. K. Krishna Menon, India's delegate.

It called for the Assembly to recess instead of taking a flat adjournment which would have meant that the delegates would have to be called back for a special session if the Korean deal broke down. The Assembly president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India, will reconvene the session if she feels that developments warrant or if one or more member countries request it.

In either case, she must obtain concurrence of a majority in the U.N.

Menon last week put up a resolution calling for the Assembly to recess until Feb. 9 and to be called back by the president for good reasons. The date was dropped in the revised resolution. It retained the provision, insisted upon by the Western Allies, for a poll of the majority before reconvening the Assembly but it gave Mrs. Pandit an opportunity to poll the delegates when she felt the moment had come for action.

Menon explained to delegates that the time limit for India to hold custody of the prisoners of war was nearing an end. He expressed hope that the peace conference would be convened before that time expired Jan. 23. The United States feels those prisoners remaining in the tents Jan. 23 should be freed on the spot.

From Peking, a blast by Red China's foreign minister, Chou En-Lai, blamed the United States for holding up the peace conference. His message to Mrs. Pandit and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in effect asked the U.N. to help set up the peace conference on Red China's terms. The Reds want Russia to attend as a neutral; the U.S. says Russia must sit on the East side.

In a 50-minute speech to the committee, Menon said the repatriation issue in Korea is not catastrophic but it is serious.

He told the committee that India is concerned at the threats voiced against her troops by Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea. He said Rhee had threatened to make war on the Indians at the end of the 120 days set up in the armistice for repatriation of prisoners. Menon said he expected the United States would live up to its responsibilities in this case.

Ship Fire Subdued

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The crew of the U.S. Destroyer Charles P. Cecil battled a blaze in the storeroom four hours before bringing it under control. ### Dee Eiche Business Sold To Firestone

Sale of the Dee Eiche Firestone business at 12th and N to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company has been announced. The change became effective Dec. 1.

Mr. Eiche, in his announcement Monday, said the business transfer was negotiated at his suggestion in order to free himself from the managerial responsibilities of the business he had owned and operated since 1924.

One requirement in the transaction is that Eiche remain with the firm for a year in a sales and personal relations capacity. Mr. Eiche said he had no plans beyond the year.

The Firestone store will continue to be operated at its present location under the management of Stanley Bursel, who has been with the Eiche firm for 20 years.

Eiche was honored by the Firestone company last March when he was presented with a 40-year dealer's service award.

No real estate was involved in the transaction, Eiche said. The business transfer, for which a sale price was disclosed, was described by him as an inventory basis.

A life-long Lincoln resident and an University of Nebraska graduate, Eiche became associated in 1911 with the Lincoln Auto Company, but later was one of the organizers of the Standard Auto Company. He established his own company in 1924.

THE ANSWER IS YES!

A prominent local merchant recently stated that the greatest investment he ever made in his life was the purchase price of his admission ticket to see "THE ROBE." He also asked if he could purchase a block of tickets for his employees.

Because of this and similar requests from many and varied groups for special service or desiring tickets in advance so that they may be given as gifts to friends or employees, we have now worked out a plan whereby tickets can be arranged for in advance and we can, in fairness to all, accommodate groups of any number, who wish to avoid waiting lines and delay in obtaining seats. Thus giving us the opportunity to render the maximum of personal service. For complete information, phone or write to Manager—Group Service Department, Stuart Theatre—2-1465

Christmas Seal sales, over the week end soared to $12,508, or 64 per cent of the $19,500 goal which the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association hopes will be reached by Christmas, Richard Jay, vice president, reported.

"Not only are the people buying Christmas Seals," Jay said, "but they are also responding to the constant education and publicity by turning out in large numbers for chest X-rays at the survey center." The chest X-ray survey, an important educational and early case-finding project of the association, is financed by Christmas Seals.

Liquor Permit Plea Denied

The City Council failed to change its practice of confining liquor licenses to operation within the downtown police jurisdiction area as it denied the application of James Silverio for an off-sale beer license at 889-91 1st St.

Silverio had proposed to surrender the on and off-sale beer license he now holds at 2921 O. It approval was given for the 2nd 27th location. The Council's policy as established by its resolution permits liquor licenses to be issued in any location area but that policy has never been followed.

A denied by the Council was the application of Sharon Farber for an off-sale beer license at 1509 South.

The Council cited F. B. Weller and F. B. Weller Jr. to appear before the Council on Dec. 14 to show cause why their on and off-sale license for the sale of beer at 1917-25 O should not be revoked. The licensee is charged with the sale of beer to a minor.

Kimball Expects To Grab West Oil Marketing Lead

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) — Kimball County expects to move ahead of Cheyenne County next year in the Black Gold Derby—oil marketing production.

Cheyenne still leads the western Nebraska area with total marketing of around 9,600 barrels per day as compared with Kimball's 9,000, but Kimball County expects to forge ahead because of the accelerated exploration and development program in progress.

Actual daily marketing has been trimmed from previous highs because of market restrictions. Kimball now is producing its oil from 106 wells, while Cheyenne has 165 in production.

All of the oil is transported to eastern refining centers via the Platte Pipe Line, which has an injection station east of Gurley in Cheyenne County.

Cold weather has not curtailed drilling activity in this part of the Julesburg Basin.

Regarded as one of the more significant oil and gas developments recently was the announcement that Ohio Oil Co., has sold its West Sidney gas field production to the Kansas-Nebraska Gas Co.

Kansas-Nebraska is spending about three million dollars to enlarge and extend its gathering and transmission lines in this area so as to qualify for the West Sidney field's production. There are 10 wells in the field and the 11th is drilling.

The Huntsman gasoline plant, which processes gas from the Huntsman and Marlowe fields, has been processing between 12 and 15 million cubic feet of gas per day. This gas is sold to the North Central Gas Co., which serves Sidney, Gurley and Dalton in Cheyenne County and a number of communities along the North Platte River.

Air Mail to Santa Claus

Iglooville, North Pole
December 8

DEAR CHILDREN:

While Mrs. Claus filled hot water bottles, hunted out blankets, and fur robes, and checked the medicine kit, the elves flew around helping me get ready to go to the rescue of my reindeer.

Two of the elves laced up my boots, two found my gloves; another fetched my cap. Ten of them ran to the barn and got out the sled with the truck bed, and the harness for me to pull it. Seven more filled the back of the sled with soft reindeer moss, and tossed in the harness for the deer. Others helped Mrs. Santa load the sled with robes and blankets, hot water bottles, a jug of hot soup, and the medicine. Then they helped me into my harness and I was off, just as fast as I could go. I can go very fast indeed when some of my loved ones are in trouble.

I looked back from the top of the first hill and all Iglooville was lighted up. The elves were standing in the door and calling "Good luck, Santa!" Mrs. Claus had turned on the big beacon light on top of the Igloo so I could have light on my way.

I hurried on I slid down hills and climbed up hills, and now and then I would look through the telescope to see where I was going. As I got closer to the deer I could count all eight of my own—and I heaved such a sigh of relief that I blew all the snowflakes away from my face for a great distance. I could see easier then, and I saw that it was Donner and Blitzen who were walking so close to each other, and that they were carrying a strange deer on their backs—a pitifully sick deer, all huddled up and looking as if she were nearly dead.

Tomorrow I'll tell you about the stranger.

Love,
Santa Claus

Looking for a real deal?

Now's the time to save money!

Today's local delivered price of the BUICK SPECIAL 2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan Model 48D (illustrated)

$2310<sup>88</sup>

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, license, and title may vary slightly in other areas. Dealer's price subject to change without notice.

You also get a lot more in a Buick that the specifications don't show—more fun, more thrill, more comfort, more pride and pleasure. But why waste another day—with time growing shorter, winter coming closer, and your present car getting older? If you're looking for a real automobile at a real buy in a real deal—come look at Buick right now.

THE GREATEST BUICK IN 50 GREAT YEARS

WE feature the delivered price of the Buick pictured here to make a point about the big trade-in allowances we're giving today.

The price you pay for the car itself—the local delivered price—is the first thing to look for when you're bargain-hunting.

It's this figure less what you get on your trade-in that determines your real cost—the dollar difference you pay.

That means—keep your eye on the dollar difference. The more car it buys, the better deal you make.

So with our low delivered price and the high trade-in allowances we're giving right now—we think we have a whale of a buy for you.

And when you check into things, we believe you'll discover this:

You get more room and power for your money in this Buick than in any other car on the market.

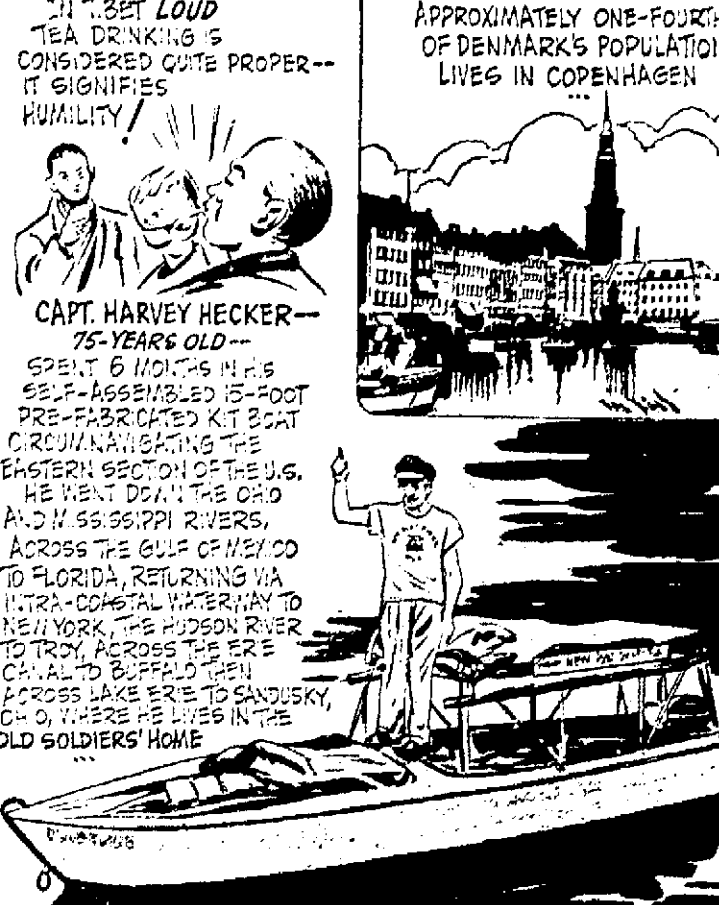

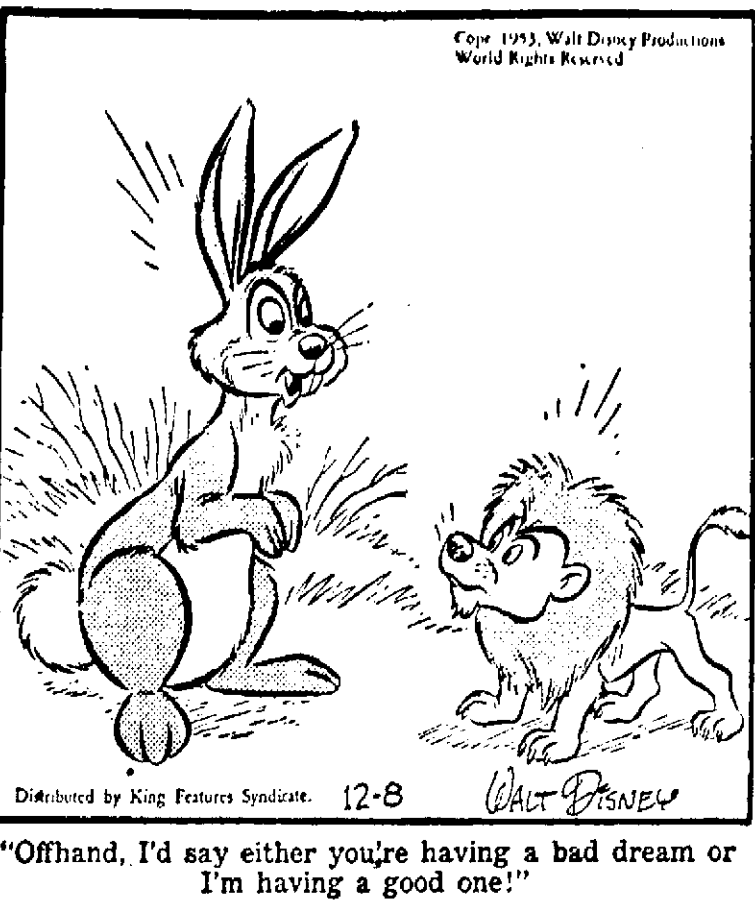

You get hundreds of pounds more automobile here—more strength in the brawnier frame, more durability in the heavier chassis, more safety in the thicker structural members—than in a long list of cars at this Buick's price or higher.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. # 'Dutch Elm Disease' Carrier Found Locally, Over State

By VIRGIL FALOON
Star Staff Writer

A carrier of the "Dutch elm disease," but not the disease itself, has been found in Lincoln as well as at several other Nebraska points, according to Dr. Robert W. Goss, University of Nebraska plant pathologist.

Dr. Goss was a guest speaker Monday before the Nebraska Association of Nurserymen meeting at the Lincoln Hotel.

A known carrier, the European black beetle, was first found in Richardson County, but only within the past week in Lincoln.

The Dutch elm disease, named for its discovery in Holland in 1920, was first reported in the United States in 1930 in Ohio.

Slow Death

This fungus disease, which attacks elms requires from three to five years to kill the tree as compared with phloem necrosis, a virus disease, which can kill a tree in a week or so.

Apparently the European beetle species weakened or dying elm trees in which to deposit eggs just underneath the bark. In the Spring, the young beetle hatch and seek young, healthy elm trees upon which to feed.

At this time, the beetle treatment, the organism causing the fungus disease and the Dutch elm disease all tests to locate the Dutch elm disease in Lincoln trees infected with this beetle have been negative, but cautioned the appearance of the carrier may mean the disease itself may be close behind.

Infestations of this disease have been found in Missouri and Kansas and also in a lighter degree in Colorado. Apparently Nebraska has been passed over for the moment, he commented.

No control, except eradication of infected trees and those with a 300 to 1,000-foot radius, is known for the disease. Its

City, State Agree On Highway 6 Use During Pipe Laying

The City Council has signed an agreement with the state relative to usage of Highway 6 by the city during the construction of the city's 48-inch water transmission line from Asbland to Lincoln.

Bids on the pipe line will be received at the City Hall Thursday.

Rep. Curtis Hits 'Left-Wing' Smears In Social Security Study

Nebraska Rep. Carl T. Curtis Monday charged "left wing cover-up propaganda" with smears against him personally and against the efforts of his House committee's study of the national social security program.

Denying leadership of a crusade against the aged, Curtis told Lincoln Chamber of Commerce committees interested in national legislation that he would stand on his record of long time support of the social security program.

"I want the program improved in the best way possible," he said. "I want the program to be honest and understood by the people. I want my government to act with responsibility."

'Hatchet Attack'

Curtis attributed resistance to his committee's hearing to "left wing" managers of the program in the past not wanting their errors to become known, and using the hearing as a propaganda sounding board.

"I have been verbally pounded, harassed and blockaded by the rudest hatchet men that the left wing partisan groups could produce," he asserted.

Curtis endorsed the present program's principles of contributory payments on a graduated scale and on the accumulation of revenue in a trust fund. But he attacked as misleading "government references to the program as one of insurance, implying a contract. He also criticized modifications under international treaties that made nationals of other countries beneficiaries of an increasing scale from American social security funds.

Domestic Program

"I conceive social security as a domestic social program," he asserted.

Curtis said that during 1952 the United States sent social security checks to individuals in foreign countries in a total amount only slightly less than Nebraska recipients received.

The Nebraska congressman denied that his investigation committee envisioned fundamental alterations of the social security principle and added that his House bill, now in preparation, will not ask for policy contracts between government and citizen participants.

"I do not contend," he said, "that the absence of an insurance contract makes social security an undesirable thing. But I do object to the government telling individuals that their social security card constituted their insurance policy. There is no policy and the funds that have been accumulated in bonds are not sufficient to pay out the benefits of those beneficiaries already on the rolls."

Asked to describe the elements of his proposed bill Curtis declined.

"The bill is in the formative period. Its full character has not yet taken shape. I am not at liberty to discuss it," he explained.

But he indicated that present assessments are low as yet because six out of 10 aged cannot qualify for benefits, more than 40 per cent of the widows and orphans are denied benefits, more than half the retired aged are not receiving pensions, and 20 per cent of the gainful workers are still excluded from the rolls.

"When the program matures I do not see how substantial assessment increases can be avoided especially since at this stage social security income cannot meet the pension load," he said.

Curtis added that "there are many problems in the field of old age assistance."

He noted that federal taxpayers pay four-fifths of the first $25 an aged assistance client receives and one half of the next $30.

"But in 48 states we have 48 different programs," he said.

He noted that Nebraska has 137,000 pensions over 65, but only 21,000 are on old age assistance rolls for which the federal government pays $7 million. In contrast, Colorado with only 122,000 persons over 65, has 48,000 on the rolls and receives federal aid to the extent of $17,500. Oklahoma with 203,000 over 65 has 95,000 on the rolls and receives $33 million while Louisiana with 193,000 over 65 has 121,000 on the rolls and receives $42 million.

Asked to explain the disparity, Curtis attributed Nebraska's sparse rolls to statutory restrictions on eligibility which greater receiving states do not apply.
